Our Difference

The Animal Referral Hospital (ARH) is a well-established group of specialist veterinary hospitals. We offer a wide range of specialist services and provide 24-hour emergency and critical care through our facilities in NSW, ACT, QLD, VIC and SA. The Animal Referral Hospital at Essendon Fields is supported by a range of specialist services including internal medicine; surgery; emergency and critical care. Our team is supported by the latest equipment including in house diagnostic laboratory, digital radiography, most up to date ultrasound, digital endoscopy, ECG, CT, and MRI.

About You

You will ideally be DACVECC, ECVECC or FANZCVS board certified or an individual who has completed an ACVECC approved residency training program in emergency and critical care. This role would suit someone who is committed to patient care and shares a vision for a collaborative working environment. This position requires interaction with a large team of specialists, veterinarians and nurses. Great communication skills and an ability to work as a team are essential.

What's Important to You

- A permanent full-time role based on a 4-day working week
- Generous remuneration commensurate with experience
- Continuing education is well supported and other benefits such as staff discounts, visa and relocation allowance also apply
