

Veterinary Emergency and Critical Care Faculty (St Kitts)

Basseterre, Saint Kitts

Full-time

About Ross University School of Veterinary Medicine

Ross University School of Veterinary Medicine (RUSVM), an Adtalem Global Education institution, prepares students to become veterinary leaders by drawing connections among animals, people and the planet, as a member of the One Health Initiative. RUSVM offers research programs focused on emerging infectious and zoonotic diseases, conservation medicine and ecosystem health. RUSVM has graduated more than 6,000 students and offers postgraduate master's, PhD, and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine (DVM) programs accredited by the St. Christopher & Nevis Accreditation Board and the American Veterinary Medical Association Council on Education. RUSVM is located on St. Kitts and includes the Ross University Veterinary Clinic, accredited by the American Animal Hospital Association.

Visit veterinary.rossu.edu for more information, and follow on Twitter, Instagram, Facebook, and LinkedIn.

Job Description

Ross University School of Veterinary Medicine (RUSVM) invites applications for a full-time faculty position at the rank of Assistant or Associate Professor in Emergency and Critical Care (ECC). The successful candidate will join a dynamic and collaborative team dedicated to excellence in veterinary education, clinical service, and research.

This position involves teaching didactic lectures and practical/laboratory sessions in Emergency and Critical Care to Doctor of Veterinary Medicine (DVM) students, as well as providing clinical consultation services in the First Opinion Small Animal Clinic.

Key Responsibilities:

- Deliver high-quality lectures and hands-on laboratory instruction in Emergency and Critical Care to DVM students.
- Supervise and mentor students during clinical rotations and practical sessions.
- Provide clinical consultation and case management in the First Opinion Small Animal Clinic, including after-hours emergency coverage on a rotating basis.

- Contribute to curriculum development and continuous improvement of ECC teaching materials and methods.
- Engage in scholarly activities, including research, publication, and continuing education.
- Participate in faculty committees, accreditation processes, and other academic service roles.
- Foster a supportive and inclusive learning environment for a diverse student body.

Qualifications

Required:

- Willingness to reside in St Kitts on a full-time basis (Relocation provided).
- DVM or equivalent veterinary degree.
- Completion of a residency in Emergency and Critical Care or board certification (ACVECC, ECVECC, or equivalent).
- Demonstrated experience in clinical teaching and case management in ECC.
- Strong interpersonal and communication skills.

Preferred:

- Prior academic teaching experience at the university level.
- A record of scholarly activity or interest in research.
- Experience working in multicultural or international environments.

Benefits:

- A unique opportunity to live and work in the Caribbean, contributing to a global veterinary education community
- To be stimulated by an academic environment focused on teaching and research
- An opportunity for a different professional pathway where you can leverage your clinical expertise, enhance work life balance, and find purpose in academic opportunities.
- Competitive salary commensurate with experience and qualifications.

- Comprehensive benefits package including health insurance, retirement plans, and relocation assistance.
- Opportunities for professional development and research support.

To Apply:

Please use this link or scan here to submit an application including CV and Letter of Intent. Applications are accepted on a rolling basis until the position is filled.

To inquire for more information, you can email Angelia Williams at Angelia.Williams@adtalem.com.

Additional information

There is no personal income tax in St. Kitts. As an expatriate, you may still be responsible to report income in your home country. Please consult a tax advisor for more information on implications for you.